LVM Systems Opens Registration for 2010 Users' Conference

MESA, Ariz., Aug. 12, 2010 — LVM Systems has announced that registration for its 2010 Users' Conference is now open. The two-day conference offers LVM customers and other healthcare call center professionals the opportunity to learn about the most innovative practices in the industry.

“We have put together a great program,” said LVM Systems' Cheryl Baker, manager, client services. “Every presentation provides information and ideas that will help call center managers perform at a high level.”

The conference is scheduled for Oct. 20 and 21 at the SanTan Elegante and Legado Hotel in Gilbert, Ariz.

“Every year we try to improve upon a conference that our attendees say is a quality learning and networking experience,” said Les Mortensen, LVM Systems' president and chief information officer. “We also want to make the conference as cost-effective as possible. We believe the combination of content, networking and location make this a great investment.”

The registration fee for this year's conference is $595 per person. Attendees can pay and register online at www.lvmsystems.com/conference.

This year's conference keynote speakers are content providers Dr. Barton Schmitt and Dr. David Thompson, and Deborah Reiner, vice president of strategic resources at HCA MountainStar Division in Cottonwood Heights, Utah.

In addition to the keynoter speakers, the conference features three learning tracks – clinical, marketing and training. Nurses who attend sessions in the clinical track are eligible to receive Continuing Education Contact Hours.
