LVM Systems Launches iNurseTriage.com

MESA, Ariz., August 3, 2011 — LVM Systems has announced the launch of iNurseTriage.com, a web-based triage tool designed for physician offices and clinics.

“We have heard from physician offices around the country,” said Mark Dwyer, Chief Operations Officer at LVM. “They have been looking for a triage solution that did not require a large capital investment and could be accessed at their location.”

In development nearly a year, iNurseTriage.com provides doctors’ offices with LVM’s more than 23 years of experience in telephone triage. The office’s personnel log into iNurseTriage.com to quickly and easily conduct a consistent triage encounter for their patients. Once the triage encounter is completed, the person managing the call has the choice of copying and pasting the information into the office’s electronic medical record (EMR) system or printing it and adding it to the patient’s chart.

“We designed it to be fast and simple to use,” said Brian Mortensen, iNurseTriage.com’s developer. “It provides a realistic solution for physician offices.”

iNurseTriage.com features protocols developed by Dr. Barton Schmitt (pediatrics) and Dr. David Thompson (adult). Schmitt’s and Thompson’s protocols are considered the gold standard in the industry. iNurseTriage.com is sold on a per-encounter basis.

The usage fee is $0.97 per encounter. To acquaint potential users with iNurseTriage.com, LVM is offering the first 20 encounters at no cost.
